

To my future employer,

Have a nice day!

I am Evangeline Gabriel Bangloy, single, 5'2"ft in height and 49 kg. Residence of Brgy. Dumawing, Jones, Isabel, Philippines. I came from a poor family. My father, Loreto G. Bangloy is originally a farmer and my mother, Dominga Gabriel Bangloy is a housekeeper. I have two brothers and four sisters. I am a graduate of Bachelor of Elementary Education major in Values Education from Philippine Normal University. I graduated in the year 2000. I am a working student before, if no school day, Saturday and Sunday, I work for families who need help. I clean their house, I do laundry, I wash car or I take care of their kids. The money I earned from that this part-time job was my allowance during my school days.

When I graduated in College, I'm immediately found a job. I was employed in a private school as a grade I teacher for more than 2 years. Because my elder brother and my two elder sisters are already married, I am the one to help my parents support my younger brother and sisters when they are now enter in college my salary is not enough, that's why I decided to live my country Philippines and apply as a caretaker here in Taiwan.

Here in Taiwan, I am taking care of a 90 years old half-paralyzed, but not bedridden grandfather and his 2 years old grandchild. For grandfather I cook his meals, help prepare his medicine, take him to the doctor for his regular check-up every month without the assistance of my employer. For the grandson I help him take a bath, feed him and assist him with all his needs. I always keep an eye on him since he is small. At the same time I have to do the household chores, I clean the house and do the laundry and cook for the whole family.

My friends describe me as hardworking, friendly and honest. I enjoy playing ball games, indoor games like scrabble and chess. For my future employer, I only wish that I can be treated well and hopefully one day as part of the family. I hope to get along well with you and hopefully you can help and teach me the things that I don't know.

Thank you for your time in reading my letter.

Respectfully yours,

EVANGELINE BANGLOY
